Assureweb Website Plug-in

The Assureweb Website Plug-in for your website

We recently carried out a survey with our customers in order to find out how they use the Internet to promote their business. We were surprised to find that almost a third of advisers surveyed don't have a website. Those who took part in the survey cited lack of web design experience as one of the biggest barriers to establishing an online presence, while almost half admitted that they simply don't have time to set one up.

There are many affordable tools available in the market today to help advisers increase their online presence. Experts such as IFA Portals, eConveyancer and Code Potato provide services specifically for financial advisers with little resource required.

70% of advisers told us there was room for improvement with their website, with 80% telling us they don't have a website plug-in. The Assureweb Website Plug-in costs just £10 per month and could be the key to improving your website.

Our Plug-in exemplifies our continued commitment to financial advisers by providing access to new distribution services that reflect and support the changing way that some clients like to engage with financial intermediaries. In the current economic climate, it's more important than ever for advisers to consider new revenue generating opportunities. This should include a strong online presence and new ways of engaging with Internet savvy clients that ultimately could improve lead generation. Just one single sale through our service could pay for the annual cost 2-3 times over. Click here to register
